AGING AND THE BUILT ENVIRONMENT

How design plays an important role

TAMA DUFFY DAY
PRINCIPAL | GLOBAL
PRACTICE LEADER,
GENSLER

Discover the pivotal role of design in shaping environments for an aging population. Engage in a thought-provoking discussion led by Tama Duffy Day, Principal and Health leader at Gensler, a global design firm, with over 40 years of expertise in healthcare and older adult living spaces. Tama will share her thoughts and probe the attendees on their own perceptions of design successes and failures. Delve into the ways inventive design significantly enhances older adult lives by improving accessibility, safety, comfort, and fostering community engagement.
