

Treatment of Title IV Aid When a Student Withdraws from Marymount University

The law specifies how a school must determine the amount of Title IV program assistance that you earn if you withdraw from school. The Title IV programs that are covered by this law are: Federal Pell Grants, Iraq and Afghanistan Service Grants, TEACH Grants, Direct Loans, Direct PLUS Loans, Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants (FSEOGs), and Federal Perkins Loans.

Though your aid is posted to your account at the start of each semester, you earn the funds as you complete the semester. If you withdraw during your payment period or period of enrollment the amount of Title IV program assistance that you have earned up to that point is determined by a specific formula. If you received (or Marymount or parent received on your behalf) less assistance than the amount that you earned, you may be able to receive those additional funds. If you received more assistance than you earned, the excess funds must be returned by Marymount and/or you.

The amount of assistance that you have earned is determined on a pro rata basis. For example, if you completed 30% of your payment period or period of enrollment, you earn 30% of the assistance you were originally scheduled to receive. Once you have completed more than 60% of the payment period or period of enrollment, you earn all the assistance that you were scheduled to receive for that period.

If you did not receive all of the funds that you earned, you may be due a post-withdrawal disbursement. If your post-withdrawal disbursement includes loan funds, Marymount must get your permission before it can disburse them. You may choose to decline some or all of the loan funds so that you don't incur additional debt. Marymount may automatically use all or a portion of your post-withdrawal disbursement of grant funds for tuition, fees, and room and board charges (as contracted with Marymount). Marymount needs your permission to use the post-withdrawal grant disbursement for all other school charges. It may be in your best interest to allow the school to keep the funds to reduce your debt at the school.

If you receive (or Marymount or parent receive on your behalf) excess Title IV program funds that must be returned, Marymount must return a portion of the excess equal to the lesser of:

1. Your institutional charges multiplied by the unearned percentage of your funds,

or
2. The entire amount of excess funds.

Marymount must return this amount even if it didn't keep this amount of your Title IV program funds.

If Marymount is not required to return all of the excess funds, you must return the remaining amount.

Any loan funds that you must return, you (or your parent for a Direct PLUS Loan) repay in accordance with the terms of the promissory note. That is, you make scheduled payments to the holder of the loan over a period of time.

Any amount of unearned grant funds that you must return is called an overpayment. The maximum amount of a grant overpayment that you must repay is half of the grant funds you received or were scheduled to receive. You do not have to repay a grant overpayment if the original amount of the overpayment is $50 or less. You must make arrangements with Marymount or the Department of Education to return the unearned grant funds.

The requirements for Title IV program funds when you withdraw are separate from any other refund policy that Marymount may have. Therefore, you may still owe funds to Marymount to cover unpaid institutional charges. Marymount may also charge you for any Title IV program funds that they were required to return.
